Subject:	Accessing channel edit menu

Description

It has been reported that access to the memory edit menu is limited.

> Besides right-clicking fpr context menu on a channel, is there a way to access the channel edit menu, i.e., by keyboard shortcut or other combination if user doesnt have right-click mouse setup (I think most mac users dont).

[PATCH] Updated Memory Edit View #1
This patch helps addres a concern some individuals were having accessing the memory property page which contains some "extra"
memory settings which are not editable on the main treeview.
This change modified the memory editor taskbar to include a button which connects to the memory property page as well as adding a properties menu item to the vie menu and memory editor context menu.
Access to the memory property page should now be slightly improved and more accessible to those people whom are not used to functioning with a 2-button mouse button.
